Lower Gas & Electricity Rates ?

by Ron Yarano, Councilman

Monday - April 12 - 8:00p
Community Building

A representative from the Ohio Consumer Counsel (OCC), your residential utility advocate, will discuss current aggregation issues and answer questions about their free services.

Aggregation is a process where consumers join together to buy a commodity as a group. State law now allows Ohioans to authorize their local municipalities to choose an electric and gas supplier on their behalf. Rather than each individual customer shopping for a supplier, an aggregator reviews options, negotiates offers, and makes decisions about the purchase of gas and electric service on behalf of its members.

There are two major reasons local governments might consider aggregators:

1. Suppliers may be more likely to negotiate with an aggregated group than with an individual because dealing with a large group lowers transaction and marketing costs. The savings can then be passed on to individual consumers in the group.
2. Aggregation is a public service. Many residential and small commercial electric and gas customers may lack the knowledge, resources, and/or time to negotiate for electric and gas rates and services. An aggregation program provides them with an option for professional representation and expertise.

Currently in the central Ohio region, Bexley, Dublin, Upper Arlington, Reynoldsburg, and Gahanna plan to join together and purchase electricity by January 1, 2006. The group known as Central Ohio Public Energy Commission includes 56,000 homes. Bexley and Dublin residents receive 5% off of Gas Cost Recovery rate, while Reynoldsburg residents have a rate of 5% below the Expected Gas Cost.

Go to www.pickocc.org to learn more about aggregation ... and come to the Council meeting on Monday, April 12, 8:00p, Community Building. You will have opportunities to learn about aggregation and our purchasing energy as a group.

MAYOR'S REPORT

Lynn Eisentrout

On Election Day, I was in my office most of the day and spoke to many residents. Overwhelmingly, the issue of the possible sale of the Golf Course was the main topic of discussion. Last month, Councilman Stahr gave a brief history of the Village's efforts to procure the golf course and to ultimately annex the property into the Village. Here is where we are now. We have hired legal counsel to represent us and guide us through the annexation and negotiation process. We are reviewing our zoning code and fees to ensure that any updates regarding single-family PUDs (Planned Unit Developments) will be enacted, and we are having ongoing meetings with the Westerville School District to keep them apprised of the project. To date, no contract has been finalized between the owners of the golf course and the developer. We had hoped to schedule a town meeting by now, but it is still so early in the process that there is very little information to share. Council members and I will be available at 7:30p on Monday, April 12—a half hour before the regular Council meeting—to answer your questions. I would encourage you to contact any Council member or me if you have any questions before then and to attend Council meetings. We hope to have an April town meeting— watch for notices.

The following reports were made at the regular Council meeting held March 8:

Police - Cruiser #3 was involved in an accident - a motorist failed to yield to our officer. I viewed the video with the officer involved and found he observed proper procedure. We are thankful that there were no injuries, and the cruiser should be back in service by the time this issue goes to print.

Engineer - Stu Wilms reported that two manholes need to be raised at a cost of $400 each, the basin cleanout in the South Lake has been completed, and the cleanout of the storm sewers on Park Lane Court will cost about $1,000. These will be completed when weather permits.

Planning & Zoning - A list of code violations from throughout the Village was submitted. I met with Police Chief Hillard and Code Enforcement Officer Fred Leppert to discuss the best courses of action. Letters have been mailed, and the situations will be monitored. If you have a concern about a code violation, you may report those violations anonymously by calling my office (882-5743) or the police department (882-1408). (Judging from the amount of activity the Planning & Zoning Clerk is seeing, many residents are anxious for spring to arrive so they can begin additions and remodeling.)

Finance Committee - Councilman Don Champney moved to approve payment of the bills.

Legal - Our Law Director reported that the threshold for advertising for bids has been raised from $15,000 to $25,000.

Street Committee - Councilman Ron Yarano found a more competitive price for pothole repairs at $1,500 ($150/ton) versus the $2,000 previously approved. The lower price was approved.

Community Committee - Councilwoman Sharon Bierman will be coordinating the Lake Clean-up with the Minerva Park Community Association. Please contact her if you can volunteer (899-3755). See page 2 for more information.

Service Committee - Councilmen Bryan Downey and Ron Yarano announced that there will be a representative from the Ohio Consumer Council at the April 12 Council meeting to discuss aggregation issues. Read more about this on page 1.

Safety Committee - Councilman Dave Stahr reported that the multi-family dwelling on Lakewood Drive is being addressed as a code violation by Planning & Zoning.

Council President Pam Park-Curry introduced legislation: Ordinance #01-2004 - A second reading for amending Section 1040.01(b), modifying the quarterly flat surcharge and quarterly usage charge for loan repayment on the replacement of the waterlines. Resolution #2004-04 - Authorizing the Mayor & Clerk-Treasurer to enter into contract for expert legal services related to annexation and zoning (the golf course) - three readings waived and passed as an emergency.

Resolution #2004-05 - Establishing a license forfeiture administrative fee - three readings waived and passed as an emergency.

Resolution #2004-06 - Establishing a Vehicle Impound Release Administrative Fee - three readings waived and passed as an emergency.

Cents from Penny

by Penny Steward, CWC

We are stressed out, burned out, and out of time. We get more information – an average of 300 media messages a day – than our grandparents got in a lifetime. We are sleep deprived, depressed, overweight, and our adrenal glands are shot. And to top it off, we don't support the over-abundance of stress or the results of its devastation with very much nutrition or exercise, and yet we are surprised that we have no energy, get sick often, and are experiencing the highest disease rates in the history of mankind.

I tell people in my seminars/ classes all the time - you can make the healthiest food choices possible and not exercise and you won't be healthy. You can exercise 'til the cows come home and not make good food choices, and you won't be healthy. You can make good food choices and exercise regularly, but if you don't know how to manage and perceive the stress in your life, you cannot possibly be healthy. Optimal health is the product of taking care of yourself physically, mentally, and spiritually. The answer is to get the education and develop the habits that will keep you well. There are things you can do to make a difference.

StressLess Tip #1 - The hardest job your body performs is digestion. How often you eat, how much you eat, the choices of food you make, how long you take to eat the food, and what you are doing while you eat are critical to whether or not this tough job your body performs puts more stress in your life. Like disease, I don't believe in managing stress - I believe in avoiding it! Digestion can be a major stress factor. Here are some ways to take better control of this issue.

- Your body requires regular fueling - physical, mental, and emotional stress is triggered as a direct result of not eating the right fuel often enough.
- Eat 500 or fewer calories at a time.
- The more acidic the food, the harder the digestive process. Meat, dairy, sugar, salt, and caffeine are highly acidic foods.
- If you are inhaling your meal in 15 minutes or less, you are creating serious stress on the digestive tract, as you are not performing the first step of digestion - chewing.

- If you're working, driving, talking on the phone, screaming at the kids (or your spouse) while eating anything, you are making effective digestion impossible. Take time to quietly nourish your body - it's the most important thing you do all day!

StressLess Tip #2 - Breathe - what?! You heard me, breathe. Most of us breathe with such shallow breaths, the oxygen has a harder time getting deep into our cells. Your body requires three components to build healthy cells - oxygen, water, and nutrition.

Drawing oxygen deeply into the lungs can short circuit your body's response to stress by lowering your pulse and blood pressure. Further, by taking your breaths from the average 14 short breaths per minute to 3 or 4 deep breaths per minute, you can control anxiety and relax. This process is one of the reasons regular exercise and yoga are stress-reducing – you are forced to breathe more deeply. Hint - breathe only through your nose when you exercise - it will cause you to take the oxygen deeper into your tissues and cells for better immunity, fat burning, and stress relief.

Another way to practice deeper breathing is to consciously draw air into the diaphragm (push your belly out) instead of just filling up your lungs. This is easier to do if you are standing and raise your arms above your head as you inhale, lowering them as you exhale. Take in as much air as you can and then let as much of it out as you can. This is a great stress reliever and detoxifier!

$5 Late Registration Fee by May 21 (you will not be on the map)

It's time to clean out your closets and start digging through your basement and garage in preparation for the annual Minerva Park Community Association Garage Sale on Saturday, May 22. This event always attracts a large number of buyers, so don't miss out!

As in the past, the $5 registration fee covers the cost of prominent advertising in local newspapers, balloons to mark your mailbox, and maps for distribution. There is also a $5 late registration fee, so please be prompt.

This is one of the MPCA's biggest annual fund-raisers, so please do not cheat your community of improvements and event money by having an unregistered sale the same day. The Community Association is attempting to fund several projects to enhance the village, and we need your help. We will be watching for unregistered sales and will ask you for your fair contribution. Those folks who have unregistered sales and do not pay their 10% contribution will not be eligible to participate in the 2005 garage sale.

To register, send the attached form and a check for $5 payable to "Minerva Park Community Association" to the event coordinator, Kathy Ramey, 2807 Wildwood Rd., 818-9946.

Registration packets will be distributed this year on May 21. Late registrations can be made that evening, but you will not be on the map. Volunteers will be coming personally to collect your 10% proceeds between 3:30 and 4:00 the day of the sale, as opposed to your mailing your proceeds to us.

As always, we need volunteers to help make this sale a success. Please contact Kathy Ramey at 818-9946 if you can help with packet creation and distribution, advertising, or collecting money.

17-year Cicadas

provided by Bob Gale, MinervaFlora Committee

The last two times we had cicadas (1970, 1987), the swarms were particularly bad in Minerva Park.

After 17 years of relative quiet, Mother Nature is bringing the noise. Periodical cicadas, a species of the grasshopper-like insects best known for the scratching, screeching "singing" of the males, will emerge this May, filling forests in more than a dozen states. Almost as abruptly as they arrive, they'll disappear underground for another 17 years.

"Why do certain insects take only one year to develop, and others take two or three? It's just part of their genetic programming," said Greg Hoover, senior extension entomologist for Penn State University.

There are at least 13 broods of 17-year cicadas, plus another five broods that emerge every 13 years. The last to emerge, Brood IX, was seen last spring in parts of West Virginia, Virginia, and North Carolina.

This year, it's time for Brood X, the so-called "Big Brood," to surface. Its range stretches from Georgia, west through Tennessee and to isolated pockets of Missouri, north along the Ohio Valley and into Michigan, and east into New Jersey and New York.

"This is one of those years we kind of dread," said Paris Lambdin, professor of entomology and plant pathology at the University of Tennessee. "We had an emergence a couple years ago around Nashville, but nothing like what we expect this one will be."

No other periodical cicada covers so much ground. And with hundreds of them per acre in infested areas, the noise will be hard to miss.

"In 1987, coming back from the University of Maryland on Interstate 95, when you drove through a wooded area, you could hear the insects," Hoover said. "This would have been mid to late June, with the windows down, and then it would shut down when you got to a field or a non-wooded area."

In rare years, a 13-year brood can emerge to add its collective voice to that of a 17-year brood.

"Out in the Midwest is where things get really hairy," Hoover said. "Missouri, Illinois, and Indiana have combinations of 17-year-brooded individuals and 13-year-brooded individuals, and they can have overlap."

There's no question that the class of 2004 will be a nuisance. The cicadas will make plenty of noise, and adults are poor fliers that tend to bump into things.

But as swarms go, these cicadas aren't that bad. Adults don't feed on leaves, so they won't strip the trees, but they do lay their eggs in twigs.

"The females, once mated, will lay pockets of eggs along twigs that will cause structural weakening of those twigs," Hoover said. "Eventually they may drop off and fall to the ground, the nymphs will drop off and fall to the soil, and that's where this species is for the next 17 years."

Don Champney

I am a thoroughbred Wolverine - born in that great state up north before the Real Depression! Except for Naval duty at Great Lakes IL, all of my youth, education, and college occurred in Michigan. I married my college sweetheart, Ann, in June 1951, one week after graduation, and the great quest for honor, recognition, & riches was underway!

I worked with Fenestra Windows (Detroit), in its experimental engineering department, and moonlighted for Precision Hardware. But in 1952, I accepted a prefabricated home sales job in Cincinnati - we were now in Buckeye Country!

There followed moves to Columbus, Cincinnati, and Upper Arlington, where we were blessed with Christine Ann. For a couple of years, I worked as a manufacturer's agent, participating in the construction of the first Port Columbus Air Terminal ... furnishing and installing all of the aluminum windows, curtain wall, and entrances. Business was increasing, and so was the family - along came daughter Sarah Ann. The need for more space took us to Huber Ridge in 1962, and the girls eventually entered the Westerville school system.

I joined the construction industry as a general contractor and spent the next 30 years with the Gardner Company, primarily as VP of engineering, retiring in 1996. I helped construct hundreds of commercial buildings throughout Ohio. More than 20 of Gardner's properties were assisted living facilities, so after retiring, I worked for Karrington Health in Upper Arlington.

In 1971, we bought a lot on Park Lane Court from Tony Mampieri and had Bob Webb build our home. We stipulated concrete driveways and gas lamps - try to get that through Zoning today! There were open fields to the north where a neighbor kept ponies ... with Sarah in love with horses, she was in heaven. Of course we had to get a horse and get into the groove of 4H and Pony Club. Those were the days, and we're glad they're gone.

In 1975 at the Corn Roast, I was talked into running as a write-in candidate for Village Council, by Jim and Wahnetta Greiner. Because registration had passed, then-Mayor Hugo Wenzel took care of the legalities, and I started my political career by writing my name on the old crank-type voting machines. There followed 21 years of elected and appointed terms on Council.

I am still a member of the Builders Exchange of Central Ohio (president, 1981), Board Member of the BIA Professional Standard Commission (1986-2003) HON, Construction Specialist Institute (1960-1970), the Northland Community Council (1992-1999), and have served years with the MP Community Association.

After all of these years, we are proud grandparents of 8 and great-grandparents of 1. Among the crew is an Army Specialist with the Medical Corps (serving in Iraq) and a first-year plebe at West Point, and a licensed professional nurse. •
